

Advisor Termination Form

The Advisor Termination Form is to be signed by either the student or the former advisor. The completed form should then be submitted to the Graduate Coordinator for record keeping. If the student has reached candidacy, the student will have 4 months from the termination date below to find a new advisor. Once the student has found a new advisor they are required to submit a completed Advisor Declaration Form to the Graduate Coordinator. The new advisor may require the student to retake part of the comprehensive exam. Should the student fail to find a new advisor during the aforementioned 4 month period, the student may be put on academic probation.
